HOUSE BALLOT SLICES FUNDS FOR NAVY UNIT

Democrats Contend $3,469,761,100 Bill Would Cut Efficiency

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — The House passed a $3,469,761,100 Navy appropriation bill today, overriding Democratic protests that the 11 percent cut it makes in President Truman's request will shrink Navy and Marine Corps strength by 82,000.

Only a token fight was made to restore some of the $377,519,200 cut from budget bureau estimates by the appropriations committee. Advocates of more money are resting their hopes chiefly on the Senate, where the bill now goes. The money is to run the Navy during the 12 months beginning July 1.

A voice vote, with only about 100 members on the floor, sent the bill to the Senate after four hours of debate highlighted by insistence of Republican fiscal leaders that the bill would not impair the efficiency of the Navy.

"We have appropriated all the money the Navy can presently use," said Rep. Plumley (R-Vt.), in charge of the bill on the floor. "We have not jeopardized in the slightest degree the supremacy of the United States Navy nor the adequate maintenance of Navy to do the job."

If need for more money arises, he added, Congress can act then. Three amendments to restore funds were offered and were shot down in rapid order. Two, by Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex.), would have added $126,177,000 for Navy pay and subsistence and $54,500,000 for maintenance of naval aviation. A third, by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), would have boosted by $42,000 the fund for operation of the Office of Naval Records and Library.

Thomas made little effort to have his amendments adopted after Rep. Plumley told him: "You can kick and holler about it as much as you want, but you're sunk."

The Texan did tell the House that high officials informed him the committee cuts, coupled with previous reductions applied by the

Plan Grows to Add 10 Million To Social Security Tax Rolls

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — A strong movement developed on Capitol Hill tonight to put 10,000,000 additional persons under the social security program and to prevent the old age insurance tax from rising beyond its present level of 1 percent on workers and 1 percent on employees.

In another tax field, the Senate brought up for consideration a bill to cut individual income taxes by $4,000,000,000 a year. Actual debate on this was delayed until tomorrow, however.

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), chairman of the House ways and means committee, said his group probably will vote to bring 10,000,000 self-employed persons under the old age and survivors insurance features of social security. He did not say how this would be done. They are not on payrolls.

Also, he said a majority favors a two-year freeze of the social security tax.

If carried through, this would prevent an automatic jump January 1 to 2.5 percent against employer payrolls and employee wages, and would save taxpayers over $2,000,000,000 a year.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the finance committee won the Senate's unanimous consent to take up the income tax legislation.

At that time, Senator George (D-Ga.) announced, he will make a motion to postpone action until June 10, in order to give Congress a look at all the appropriation bills for next year. He thinks they all will have cleared the House appropriations committee by that time.

Both Millikin and Senator Taft, of Ohio, the Republican policy committee chairman, told reporters they are confident they have enough votes to beat the George motion.

Senator Lucas, of Illinois, the Democratic whip, said there is an "excellent chance" it will carry.

Millikin and George said the motion probably could be brought to a vote by Thursday; Lucas estimated Friday or possibly Monday.

The Democratic minority expects to move later for a delay on the tax bill until June 10. Attendance conditions were not favorable for such a motion today, however.

U. S. AID Hinges On NEW SURVEY

Definite Delay Seen For Future Foreign Help By Secretary Marshall

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall disclosed today the Administration has put off decisions on further foreign aid programs, such as the $400,000-Korean-Turkish measure, until it completes a global survey of post-war needs.

The survey, first of its kind, is being made by a new policy group set up by Marshall. It is headed by George F. Kennan, diplomatic expert on Russian affairs.

Marshall also told a news conference:

1. He does not agree with suggestions from London that developments in the Mediterranean mean a shift in military responsibilities there from Britain to the United States.

2. He favors a very urgent and prompt allocation for Italy from the current $350,000,000 foreign relief fund.

Marshall said that with the exception of some $78,000,000 planned for Korea he foresees no further appropriations for foreign aid at present.

He said he is not prepared to say now, however, what may be required to help other nations in the future.

And he reported that the State department is trying to find some way to help troubled China which could be fully justified to the American people and Congress.

Marshall's statement on China was prompted by a question whether the Administration is considering the release of a $500,000,000 loan earmarked for China by the Export-Import bank. He said he has given earnest consideration to China's problems, but declined to indicate what action might be taken.

Marshall said the $78,000,000 fund for Korea would be devoted to rebuilding industries, roads and rails in the American zone. The country is now split in half, Stone said.

The plane was safe as it streaked over Sweetwater, Tex., in the early dusk tonight. Police, firemen and citizens of the surrounding countryside immediately turned out in a widespread search for the men, who started bailing out about 20 miles west of where the plane crashed.

The plane was from the Army air base at Roswell, N.M.

The Civil Aeronautics administration here said the pilot, whose name was not given, reported that the fire started in his No. 3 engine.

Ellis was treated at a clinic in Merkel. He said he bailed out at 8 p.m., and landed on a farm five miles west.

NLRB Sets Date For Doeher Election

More than 1500 union workers of the local Doeher-Jarvis corporation plant will join the approximately 3200 employees in the company's four other branches in a collective bargaining election next Tuesday, the National Labor Relations board said yesterday.

The vote will be cast to determine which of two CIO international organizations the workers will join, if any.

The two internationals are the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, from which Pottstown unionists seceded several months ago in protest to alleged Communistic sympathies of its leaders, or the Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America.

The workers have the option of adopting neither international if they so choose.

Balloons will be counted June 2 at the NLRB regional office in Chicago where another Doeher plant is situated. The other two are in Batavia, N.Y., and Toledo, Ohio.

Eclipse's Effect Not Felt On 85-Degree Heat Here

While the moon blazed out the sun yesterday in Brazil and scientists danced sambas for joy because of the fine pictures they could take, the phenomenon produced no noticeable effects on the weather in Pottstown, which was hot and muggy.

The temperature rose to 85 and humidity was high despite the 88 inches of rain the atmosphere got out of its system in Monday night's cloudbursting thundershower.

Relief will come tomorrow, the weatherman predicts, when clear and mild weather is expected but today, the prognosticator says, will be more of the same with cloudy skies and occasional rain accompanied by thunderstorms tonight.

Mrs. Truman Rallies; Condition Still 'Grave'

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 20 (AP) — President Truman's gravely ill mother put on another one of her surprising rallies tonight.

Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the President's personal physician, reported at 10:30 p.m. (Pottstown time) that 94-year-old Mrs. Martha E. Truman "was feeling better than she had in the last three or four days."

Her heart, while weak, was stronger than it was this morning," Ross quoted Graham as saying. "She has much fight tonight and much determination."

The President's mother, who suffered a relapse the past weekend while recovering from a hip fracture, called for fried chicken, gravy, and mashed potatoes for "supper" tonight and ate well, topping off the meal with a glass of milk.

"I told her if she ate well, she would not have to eat the protein mixture that is part of her regular diet and which she put on quite a rally tonight. General Graham says she is feeling better than she has in the last three or four days."

Two of the 26 persons indicted pleaded innocent late today upon arraignment before Circuit Judge John R. James.

They were Dexter Perry, Independence, and Nathan Price, Kansas City, Democratic election judges.

Both were charged with "changing the true and lawful result of an election by making a false return."

Each posted $2000 bond for appearance at preliminary hearings May 26.

The indictments returned today were held secret pending arrests.

The Grand jury immediately resumed its investigation. Hugh Moore, foreman, told Circuit Judge John R. James that the judge had more work to do.

The Grand jury, which began its investigation March 29, returned indictments April 21 against 39 persons — Democratic and Republican election judges and clerks and precinct workers. The judges and clerks were charged generally with making a "false return of the true and lawful result" while others were named as accessories to the alleged false returns.

Using a mass of evidence obtained by the Kansas City Star, Republican Prosecutor James G. Kimball began the county Grand jury in the South. This tirade, by defense attorney Thomas Wofford, was cut short by a sharp rebuke from the court.

Committees are as follows:

Prize committee: Russell Tyson, chairman; Elmer Saylor and Carson Potter.

Court committee: Earl Bechtel, chairman; Alvin Kerper, Luther Graham and Dow I. Sears.

Starters and timers committee: Robert Yoder, chairman; Ray Bitting, Roy Krouse, John Hartstone, L. H. Maurer, William Curtis, Michael Schneider, Harry Schaeffer, Dr. Stone, Charles Schulz and Raymond Eppelheimer.

Rules and car inspection committee: Waverly Kiehl, chairman; Henry Schneider, Philip Stevens, Wilbur Cressman, Harry W. Burdick, Samuel Brown, Arthur Switzer, Raymond Dettler and Leonard Hatfield.

Publicity committee: William M. Hester, chairman; Ralph Thomas and Fred Griesemer.

Safety and first aid committee: Drs. Thomas Powick and Paul Z. Hoffman.

In addition to the business meeting, the moving picture account of the Indianapolis speedway was shown to members by Richard King. Philip Stevens was in charge of the meeting.

Appeal for Blood Brings Two Donors

Two donors of Type 4 RH negative blood responded yesterday to a front page Mercury appeal for this type of blood to save a woman's life at the Memorial hospital.

"It is remarkable," Dr. Thomas H. Powick, Pottstown physician, said yesterday. "we didn't expect to find even one donor with this type of blood."

Dr. Powick's patient was stronger yesterday afternoon following a transfusion—but he stressed the fact that she must continue to receive blood of this type.

The woman has a rare blood disease and needs strengthening from healthy blood for an operation that may save her life.

Former service men and women will recognize this type of blood as Type O on their dogtags.

Persons wishing to donate their blood to help save the woman's life are asked to report at the Memorial hospital between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. on

Convicted Killer Cheats Chair; Dies of Heart Ailment in Cell

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—Julius (Dolly) Weisberg, 50, slated to die in the electric chair Friday for a Chicago barroom killing, died late today, apparently from an attack of heart disease, Warden Frank Sain of the Cook county jail announced.

Weisberg, convicted of the 1945 slaying of Joseph McKnight, Evans-ton, Ill., automobile salesman, died only a few hours after being transferred to the death cell some 10 feet from the electric chair. A 24-hour guard had been placed at the cell.

May Admits Posing as Owner Of Kentucky Lumber Company

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Andrew J. May, former congressman accused of war fraud, testified today he posed as owner of a Kentucky lumber firm because woodsmen or mill hands there would not have worked for "outside people who were Jews."

The 72-year-old defendant offered this explanation as he continued his denial to the jury at his Federal court trial that he realized any money benefits from the lumber company, a concern financed by arms manufacturers Henry and Murray Garrison.

May is accused of taking $55,000 in bribes from the Garrison brothers, key figures in a $78,000,000 munitions empire. The Garrison brothers also are on trial, charged with bribe conspiracy.

The prosecution has contended the Gassons paid a major party of the alleged bribes by financing the Prestonsburg, Ky., lumber firm for May.

The former chairman of the House military committee maintained in his third day on the witness stand that he was only the agent for the firm but that he represented himself in his home area around Prestonsburg as the owner to attract workers during the wartime manpower shortage.

"I wanted to keep the impression that I owned the property so it wouldn't disturb the labor situation," May said. He added:

"I hesitate to inject this answer into this case. But I had the experience that if it were known down there that this company was owned by outside people who were Jews we couldn't get anybody to work in the woods or around the mill."

"I regret to say that. But it's a fact."

The lumber company was sold in March, 1946 for $40,000 and defense attorney Warren Magee asked May today whether he benefited from the sale.

"Nothing of the kind—was ever suggested to me," May replied warmly. "I had no interest in it and I took nothing out of it."

Asked by his lawyer whether the sale had anything to do with a then proceeding Government investigation of May-Garrison transactions, May replied: "Nothing whatever. I was anxious to get loose from this thing and I was glad to see so much money going back to the owners."

PEACE REACHED IN LAST OF BIG 'PHONE STRIKES

Western Electric Employees Accept Agreement for 11½-Cent Average Raise

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—The last major dispute in the telephone industry was settled today, signaling the end of the cross-country strike.

The settlement was on the basis of an 11½-cents-an-hour average wage increase (or an estimated $4.60 a week) for 20,000 members of the Association of Communication Equipment Workers, employees of the Western Electric company in 42 states.

They walked out April 7 along with other telephone workers across the country. At one time the strikers were estimated to number 340,000 but in recent weeks the strike has been tapering to an end, with agreements being reached for one group after another.

The 11½ cent pay raise figure announced by the Labor department was confirmed by ACEW officials as an over-all average.

These officials, however, said the base pay raise is 11 cents in "Region 1"—roughly the East and West coasts and the northern metropolitan section of the country—and 10 cents in "Region 2"—generally the South, Southwest and South Atlantic areas. "Fringe" items or compensation other than basic hourly rates, make up the rest of the 11½ cent average.

Australia, Brazil, and China supported the U. S. position.

The council adjourned until 10:30 a. m. Thursday with another round of speeches in prospect on a Soviet proposal which would restrict the powers of the U. N. border watch group stationed in northern Greece.

Johnson contended the Russian move would "stifify" the group.

The council the past December established a Balkans investigating commission to look into the troubled Greek border.

The past month the Security council, with Russia and Poland abstaining, ordered a subsidiary group of the commission to remain in the area until the council has acted on the commission's report.

The commission then created a subsidiary group with the same wide investigation orders that the commission had and with headquarters in Salonika. Some of the subsidiary group are in Salonika now waiting for instructions.

What will become of the federation remains to be seen. It started out with demands for a $12 a week increase, but reduced the demand to $6 on April 25 to fit the pattern of wage increases in other industries—15 cents an hour.

Many of the agreements were for a $2 to $4 wage increase, with some higher. The average appeared to be about $3.50 or $4.

In addition to the flat boost, there was a sprinkling of "fringe" wage adjustments, covering related demands, which the NFTW estimated would average about $1 a week per striker.

Government figures show telephone workers averaged around $44 a week before the increases.

John Murray, U. S. labor disputes conciliator, announced the settlement between Western Electric and its equipment workers and S. P. Schwartz, labor relations manager of the company's installation division, said:

"Now we can get on with the installation of urgently needed telephone central office equipment. The company will be ready to resume work Wednesday morning."

Three Nations Try to Block Balkan Probe, U. S. Charges

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—The United States charged today that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were attempting to obstruct efforts of the United Nations Security council to settle strife in the Balkans.

U. S. Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson told the council that the Soviet satellites would establish a "dangerous precedent" if they persisted in "defiance" of the U. N.

"In the view of our delegation," Johnson said, "it is entirely inadmissible that this council should accept their refusal to co-operate, whether or not they sent representatives to act as liaison officers (with a U. N. subsidiary group on the Greek border). It seems to me that if they refuse to co-operate when requested to do so by the subsidiary group, they will put themselves in the grave position of a deliberate defiance of the United Nations. I hope very much that the governments of these three countries will, on reflection, perhaps withdraw their objections."

Australia, Brazil, and China supported the U. S. position.

The council adjourned until 10:30 a. m. Thursday with another round of speeches in prospect on a Soviet proposal which would restrict the powers of the U. N. border watch group stationed in northern Greece.

Scout Troops Make Last-Minute Plans For Weekend Camp

With the long-awaited Scout camporee at Valley Forge coming up Friday, Saturday and Sunday, many troops in Pottstown made their last-minute preparations Monday night in hopes of winning a prize for one or more of the numerous Scout activities that will be judged over the weekend.

The entire Valley Forge council, consisting of 12 districts, will meet for the encampment. There will be about 4000 boys in 200 to 300 troops, since the council includes Montgomery and Delaware counties.

Troops 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 14 and 18 all reported Monday night that members were given final instructions in what equipment to take, how to pack it, preparation of menus, safe building of campfires, tent pitching, and all the other details of Scout lore that will be called into service on the three-day camping trip. Most of these troops expect to go only Saturday and Sunday.

These last words on the camporee did not keep the troops from carrying on their routine Scout affairs last night.

The boys of Troop 4 tried to have a ball game, but they were chased by the rain back into the First Methodist church, where Assistant Scoutmasters Gene Shellenberger and Bob Wolcott took over the meeting.

Troop 5 met under the aegis of Dick Reigner Monday night. Tickets for the troop's block party on June 6 were distributed, and instructions on compass reading were given. In addition to the Valley Forge trip, the troop also planned a weekend trip for an unannounced date to Hopewell park.

Fourteen boys and three leaders of Troop 6 will go to Valley Forge, according to Warren Hoover, scoutmaster. Patrol leaders Carlton Blum, Bruce Buck, and George McCormick will attend, while Hooyer and assistants scoutmasters Alvin Hinkle and Walter Ziegler will be leaders of the troop.

It was announced Monday night that the troop has been chosen to send a team to Bethlehem on June 14 to compete in the Bethlehem Steel corporation's first-aid contest. The local Bethlehem Steel plant will send a man's team to compete in that category.

District Commissioner Harry Shellenberger chose the troop, Hooyer said, and five boys with two substitutes will attend.

Troop 8 met in Emmanuel Lutheran church Monday night, spending most of the time preparing for Valley Forge. Those who will go to the camp site will meet at the church tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock to receive their camping equipment.

The motto of chivalry is also the motto of wisdom; to serve all, but love only one.—Balzac.

Hail to the Century Club!
THE Century club, of Pottstown, today observes its golden anniversary. A luncheon in the YMCA marks 50 years of unselfish service to the community.

The club was started 50 years ago by four Pottstown women. From that small beginning grew some of Pottstown's most cultural developments.

The projects of this band of resolute women were completed only after years of perseverance. Less patient persons would have given up the job as a poor one. But Pottstown's Century club lived up to its motto: "In tune one and all." No discord was heard in the symphony of public service.

Look at the record:

• For 13 years the Century club worked to establish a borough library. The work was tedious, but tenaciously they stuck to the task. After seven years of trying to operate a library in one room, they got larger quarters, finally persuaded municipal authorities that the responsibility of operating a library belonged to them.

• The Century club was the first local group to organize a public playground. That was as late as 1911—but the Century club still was first in pioneering the move.

• The first community Christmas tree in Pottstown was sponsored by the Century club. That was in 1916. It was instrumental, in 1915, in founding the Montgomery county organization.

• It has helped many a young girl through college by maintaining a student loan fund. It has fostered scholarship in the public schools by awarding annual prizes. It has been a patron of the arts. It has been a bulwark during the days of two World Wars.

Back in 1897, these women were charter members of the club: Mrs. R. W. Bailey, Mrs. C. L. Cooder, Mrs. E. T. Cook, Miss B. P. Davis, Mrs. Horace Evans, Mrs. L. K. Evans, Mrs. M. D. Evans, Miss B. Heister, Miss Ida Long, Mrs. J. B. McComman, Mrs. A. M. Myhertz, Mrs. H. L. Potts, Mrs. E. B. Rosser, Miss M. Sampson, Mrs. A. T. C. Taylor, Mrs. L. Taylor, Mrs. O. P. Smith, Miss M. Snowden, Mrs. T. C. Steele, Mrs. C. C. VanBuskirk and Mrs. T. C. Wiesand.

None of these charter members is living today.

It is too bad that they cannot be seated around the anniversary table today, for they deserve a great deal of credit for fostering improvements that have meant so much to Pottstown. Without their ideas, their work, Pottstown would have withered mentally and physically.

It is too bad that those charter members cannot be present today to see, too, what a heritage they left. For today's Century club of 157 active members certainly is one of the dominating factors in Pottstown's life.

Those 1897 pioneers deserve a great many words of praise. The club achieved much in 50 years.

Now let us hope it will continue its good work for another 50 and that its achievements, when it gains that "Century" mark, will be more glorious.

Incentives Needed

A LERT management has been aware for some time that the basic problem of employee morale was not one of shinier cafeterias, cleaner washrooms, bowling leagues or even a few cents more per hour. The aspirations of factory workers are those of every other human being, namely, recognition for his effort and the hope of advancement.

A poll conducted by Fortune magazine confirms the fact that these workers in general do not find their jobs boresome, too tiring or insecure. They do record their conviction that: these jobs will not lead to promotion, even if done well; they bemoan the lack of opportunity to try out their own ideas, and they dread the prospect of retirement at 65 with insufficient income.

During the war some spectacular production records were made by cultivating management-worker team spirit. These efforts were expensive, and they were fed by the stimulus of patriotism. Many of them vanished with the coming of peace.

Unions are generally suspicious of incentive systems, fearing that they might be used to curtail speedups. But when a large percentage of workers indicate that a major cause of dissatisfaction with their jobs is the lack of reward for individual effort, it ought to provoke thoughtful action on the part of both union leaders and management.

PUNK CORNERS. May 20.

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where, during an auction, an old house's floor suddenly collapsed and 80 bidders had to flee to safety.

There's one gavel-wielding auctioneer who doesn't know his own strength.

In Toronto, a branch of the public library is ordered to vacate to make room for a cafeteria. That's really one for the book!

And say: To make business boom, we need not only a lot of consumer goods but plenty of good consumers.

Hopin' you air the same.

Location Greatest Asset

To the Editor: The location of Pottstown is its greatest asset in my estimation. Physically Pottstown is similar to countless other communities with its main street, schools and churches, its factories and its typical American people; yet geographically Pottstown can scarcely be equaled.

I appreciate Pottstown because the simplicity and sincerity of its atmosphere offer me a chance to enjoy the smaller things of life without sacrificing the necessities of life. I can stroll down the street and feel the industrial security it has to offer, and at the end of the street I step into the countryside and enjoy the tranquility of the yielding fields.

Looking about I see that Pottstown is encompassed by unparalleled scenery and sacred historic points of interest that make me proud to live at the birthplace of our great country.

I can drive a few hours and enter New York city and here enjoy the heartbeat of the nation. In Summer the New Jersey shore offers the finest beaches in the world. Swinging southward, I find myself in Washington, the focal point of the world, and here I can observe our government in action. Nearby Philadelphia is at my side with its great halls of knowledge, culture and entertainment.

Certainly the location of Pottstown presents much to its citizenry. It offers something that everyone is always seeking and usually overlooking — opportunity.

Honeymoon's Over

To the Editor: Clean-up week is over, and the town certainly looks like it. Things were fine for a while, but as soon as the spotlight was off, back to their untidy and messy ways they went.

Pottstown DISGUSTED

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

WARREN L. 31, is a talented commercial photographer, nervous and high-strung.

"Dr. Crane, my wife and I have two youngsters in grammar school," he told me. "They are mighty fine children, but they certainly get on my nerves at times."

"For instance, on sunshiny days when you'd think they would be glad to romp and play in the yard, they insist on staying indoors. But on stormy days when they really should be inside, then they complain because they want to go outside to play."

"A few weeks ago, moreover, we had a birthday party with about 20 children in the house, and I thought I'd go crazy. Dr. Crane, can't you suggest something by which to ease the tension?"

"I want to be a good father, but I feel that I am unusually irritable and short-tempered with my children."

I'm sure that many parents feel much as Warren does, at least sometimes during each week. But a little advance planning will often eliminate our irritation and thus make us much better parents.

Last Summer at a family get-together at our country home, I found the house overflowing with children. It sounded like bedlam. Yells, and quarrels, and shouts of glee were interspersed with wrestling and pounding on the piano.

Moreover, the day was sunny and pleasant, but the children persisted in playing indoors. Why? Because they lacked ideas of a thrilling sort. They didn't know just what to do, so they clustered around the adults, hoping for some new thought.

Because the women had a big dinner to prepare, and wanted the house cleared of the youngsters, I announced a new game. The children shouted with delight, and swarmed outside in my wake.

I told them they must go up to the neighboring farmhouse and wait for my signal, which I would give within ten minutes. Off they ran, thrilled by the prospect of something new and different than partisanship.

Children become easily bored by the sameness in their environment, for they haven't the wealth of ideas and experience which we adults possess. Thus, they cannot live in their imagination as readily as we can.

A mother can be peeling potatoes at the kitchen sink, but mentally she may be far away. The kitchen walls do not hem in her imagination. But young children tend to be more limited in their thinking. They react to what they see. But having seen it so often, they grow bored and crave novelty.

While these youngsters were away, therefore, I scattered a handful of pennies all over the front lawn. The grass was tall enough to conceal the money. Then I called the children for this "penny hunt."

Indeed, it is the Democrats who are worried about a party division. Twenty-one of their 42 present sided with the Republicans, including such Administration loyalists and Truman friends as Senators John J. Sparkman of Alabama, once Democratic House whip Scott Lucas of Illinois and Carl Hatch of New Mexico.

I have varied the plan by investing in lollipops, gum and other penny candies. My wife and I will divide the loot and then stroll through a 40-acre pasture land, studded with numerous wooded spots.

We stuck a lollipop under a projecting piece of bark near the base of a tree, or lay a stick of gum on a stump, etc. The children prefer this treasure hunt to the penny hunt.

The secret of keeping children from getting on your nerves too much consists of giving them outdoor games that involve running and much physical exercise. But adults should furnish them new ideas from time to time.

And say: To make business boom, we need not only a lot of consumer goods but plenty of good consumers.

Hopin' you air the same.

WASHINGTON

Martin Satisfied GOP Passed Political Ball

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, May 20—Capitol Hill Republicans recently reviewed their 110-day legislative record and the party's present status at a council of war in Speaker Martin's inner office, and they came out smiling. They believe that they have passed the tricky political ball back to the White House in a manner to embarrass the admittedly popular President Truman.

"When we wind up around July Fourth," said Martin, "we will have set a legislative record unmatched in many peacetime years. We will have straightened out the complex problems — labor boshisms, crushing taxes, Communistic penetration of American institutions, bureaucratic control for the sake of control—that have beset the nation and hampered a healthy economy since before the 1929 depression.

"We will have given the Administration the tools with which to make the economic machine operate in high gear. Whether President Truman will accept them, and whether he can make them work with his present administrative staff, will be his responsibility, and he will have to answer to the American people in 1948."

The Bay State leader was not dishing out the typical political syrup. All save a few maverick Republicans in House and Senate agree with him and share his confidence. The division and discouragement which split their ranks only a few weeks ago seems to have disappeared, at least temporarily.

ISSUES: The Republicans figure that they were given control of Congress last November on a few basic issues. Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece listed them at the time as "Confusion, controls and communism."

More specifically, the Martin-Halleck group believe that the voters returned them to power to effect economy and cut taxes, to oust the bureaucrats and to remove wartime controls, to check the inroads of Communism in the U.S., and to restore the balance among management, labor and government.

Although Mr. Truman acted immediately to respond to the popular will as expressed at the ballot-box, the GOP maintains that he did so under pressure, and did not finish the job.

For instance, he whipped John L. Lewis in one specific struggle, but he vetoed the Case anti-labor measure. He stopped "appearing" Stalin, and took steps to eliminate "Reds" in federal office. But, if it is pointed out, he based his anti-Commie drive on an executive order alone, whereas the GOP has embodied the ban into several laws.

Mr. Truman also opposed immediate reduction of taxes, which appears to be the main concern of the voters. He did not act to reduce the number of office-holders on the federal pay roll.

The Republicans say they have met these issues by proposing a budget cut that forces reduction of the number of employees, by their promised lowering of tax rates and by their unearthing of "useless" employees."

CONFIDENT: In the foreign field, the opposition has followed Mr. Truman's lead to such an extent that Secretary Marshall has praised them, individually and collectively, for their "non-partisanship." But even here they think they enjoy a political advantage.

This is no attempt to eulogize the Republican record, to suggest that their findings are correct or to agree with their analysis of today's political situation and prospects. It is merely a report of their state of mind at the present moment. And a party's "state of mind" is always an important factor in practical politics.

Rightly or wrongly, the Grand Old Party is more confident and more sure of itself than it has been since it appeared that Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1932 and 1936 victories might head it for oblivion.

SPLIT: But the Republicans' chief chortling sprang from the fact that the Senate revolt on the labor bill, predicted by so many New Dealish officials and commentators, did not materialize. The minor split was personal rather than partisan.

The gospels of gloom had written or reported that probably 12 G.O.P.s would line up with the Administration forces against the Taft Bill. At one time or another they included Senators Baldwin of Connecticut, Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Tobey of New Hampshire, Aiken of Vermont, Ives of New York, Cooper of Kentucky, Wilson of Iowa, Cain of Washington and several others.

There were only three objectors from relatively non-industrial states: Senators George W. Malone of Nevada, William Langer of North Dakota and Wayne Morse of Oregon. It is difficult to characterize the definition of this trio as a "revolt" in the opinion of the Taft-Martin-Halleck leadership.

DIVISION: Lanzer has never been regarded as an orthodox Republican, and neither has Morse. The Malone vote was a surprise, but it is attributed to the fact that his Democratic opposite, the popular Pat McCarran, had expressed strong views against the bill, and had offered several modifying amendments.

Malone apparently figured that, when a man has proved to be such a strong vote-getter as McCarran, it is smart politics to vote as he does.

Indeed, it is the Democrats who are worried about a party division. Twenty-one of their 42 present sided with the Republicans, including such Administration loyalists and Truman friends as Senators John J. Sparkman of Alabama, once Democratic House whip Scott Lucas of Illinois and Carl Hatch of New Mexico.

I have varied the plan by investing in lollipops, gum and other penny candies. My wife and I will divide the loot and then stroll through a 40-acre pasture land, studded with numerous wooded spots.

Four Persons Hurt In Rail Accident

OAKLAND, Calif., May 20 (AP)—Four crewmen were injured today when a Western Pacific locomotive hit an obstruction on the tracks at Decoto, 20 miles southeast of here. The most seriously injured was engineer Ray Cope, 57, of San Jose, and fireman R. C. Kennedy, 41, of Stockton.

Cope said the locomotive "turned end over end" as it hit a concrete block. The engine was demolished. The other injured were John McCann, 54, San Francisco, a news agent, and Ruel Packard, 53, San Francisco, baggeman.

All four were treated for cuts and bruises. None was in critical condition.

Marshall Supports Top Press Coverage Of Council Meetings

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall, disagreeing with Foreign Secretary Bevin, made plain today he favors continuing the present system of blow-by-blow news reports of meetings of the big four foreign ministers.

Bevin told the House of Commons the past week that one of the great handicaps in international negotiations is that "every word which is said is reported by the press."

He complained that "one cannot even think aloud or make preliminary suggestions to one's colleagues unless it is hurled into headlines" and added that "the blame lies largely with the United States power of the press."

Marshall said at his news conference that (1) the foreign ministers twice tried secret sessions at Moscow, both of which were wholly unproductive and (2) he considers general press coverage of the conferences to be very important.

Because the proceedings were fully reported, the secretary said, it was true there probably were more appeals to passion and prejudice rather than to logic than there would have been otherwise. But he added the cure is not to suppress the coverage but fewer appeals to passion and prejudice.

The differences over methods of reporting international conferences date back as far as the wartime Potsdam and Yalta meetings and even farther. These were entirely secret and news was limited to official communiques.

At Moscow American and British press accounts of proceedings were based on briefings held after each daily session by authorized officials of the American, British and French delegations. The same procedure applied to meetings of the deputies on Germany and Austria.

There were no such briefings for non-Russian reporters by the Soviet delegation though the Soviets briefed their own press which reported the conference in detail. Moscow facilitated coverage by lifting censorship on dispatches in accordance with a commitment made in advance by Foreign Minister Molotov.

Before adoption of the system of post-session briefings, American correspondents frequently complained of being put at a disadvantage by "leaks" of information through the press of other nations

Student Is Honored By Thespian Group

Winfield M. Atkinson Jr., 351 North Charlotte street, a Junior at Ursinus College, Collegeville, was recently elected grand stage manager of Alpha Psi Omega for next season.

Atkinson has been a member of the Curtains club for two years, holding the rank of "star" in the group, and was elected to the national honorary dramatic fraternity last December for his work on the college's production, "Ten Little Indians."

Membership in this society is the highest honor that is awarded to the members of the Curtains club and is an honor usually reserved for Seniors.

Atkinson served for several years as the president of the former Pottstown "Y" Players. Since he has been at Ursinus, he has played a supporting role in "Mr. and Mrs. North" and has staged every one of the productions since then. These included "Spring Again," "Ten Little Indians," and the recent production, "The Man Who Came to Dinner." He also has staged the Music club's operetta, "Countess Maritza" and "Very Good Eddie" as well as their Christmas cantata "The Messiah."

COMMITTEE TO MEET
The men's committee of Brookside Country Club, Joseph H. Lynch, chairman, and M. Burr Edwards, co-chairman, announced "A Night at the Races" would be held in the clubhouse tonight at 9 o'clock.

The surface area of the Great Lakes is a little larger than that of Illinois and Indiana combined.

"NEARER, MY GOD, TO THEE"
— SARAH F. ADAMS —

Nearer, my God, to Thee, nearer to Thee!
Even though it be a cross that raiseth me,
Still all my song shall be, nearer, my God to Thee,
Nearer, my God, to Thee, nearer to Thee.

Little Stories GREAT HYMNS

Mrs. Adams' message of universal appeal was inspired by the biblical story of Jacob, who fleeing from Esau's wrath, slept on a lonely hillside, dreamed of a heavenly ladder with angels ascending and descending on it, and awoke with renewed faith. It is a triumphant revelation that even in depths of despair, we may be lifted close to God.

Chiang, Willing to End China Warfare, Calls on Communists for Peace Gesture

NANKING, May 20 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek declared today it is up to the Communists to make the first move toward ending China's civil war, as a few feet outside the conference hall police and 6000 defiant students battled with fire hoses, bamboo canes, stones and fists.

An Associated Press correspondent, mistaken for a student, was beaten by police and some 60 police and students were injured.

Chiang, beset with new demands for peace, Chiang Kai-shek, new student troupeaders and new military setbacks, declared the government is ready to end China's civil war "if the Communist will show their sincerity by deeds."

He defined the deeds as "merely to abandon their attempt to seize power by armed force, to halt their military operations, and to abide by agreements for restoration of nation-wide communications."

A truce embracing all of those points was signed by the government and Communists 16 months ago but quickly was violated and the civil war increased in intensity. Each side accused the other of having signed with no intention of living up to the agreement.

As Chiang addressed the Peop- ple's Political council, a solely advisory body holding its final session, the 6000 defiant, striking students demonstrated outside. They sought futilely to present to the council their demands for increased food allowances—many are partially government supported; 15 percent of the national budget for education, and immediate cessation of the civil war.

Their demands were inspired in part by China's terrific inflation, in part by appropriation of considerably more than half of the budget for military purposes, and in part, government officials charged, by the Communists.

Martin Chen, Associated Press staff member who is in line of duty visited the police front line, suddenly was accused as a student spy and was hustled into a small shop used as a forward post. One officer punched him in the mouth and was about to deliver another blow when two junior Chinese officials identified him and secured his liberation.

Police said they suffered 28 casual- ties in battling the students. They reported one man was thrown into one officer's eyes and another was felled and his face painted black.

One student source said 32 of their number were injured. Another reported 23 casualties; 19 injured and nine missing and presumed in police custody.

The demonstrators dispersed at dusk after an appeal by a liberal elder statesman, Shao Li-tze. Mounted police withdrew simultaneously.

Student leaders, who say 25,000 youths already have struck universities in Shanghai, Nanking, Peiping and elsewhere, predicted the strike would spread.

Loathes," Ross quoted Graham as saying.

Ross said the mixture was made up of "liver extracts, vitamins and other things that sound dreadful."

Mrs. Truman's temperature was about normal, and her heart while weak was "stronger than this morning," Ross said.

The President has made arrangements to carry on the affairs of his office from Missouri indefinitely. Tentatively plans were being made for him to sign the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid measure in his hotel headquarters at Kansas Thursday morning.

Earlier this afternoon, General Graham announced that Mrs. Truman's condition had not improved.

The gravity of her condition was emphasized by word from Washington that President Truman's wife is enroute here by train.

Their daughter, Margaret, who flew here yesterday from Pittsburgh after canceling singing engagements there and in Cleveland, joined her father in the long and anxious vigil at the elder Mrs. Truman's bedside.

South Carolina. John M. Daniel, defense attorney, told the jury Watt had a record of 471 convictions out of 473 defendants brought to trial.

Twenty-one of the defendants are charged with murder. They are charged with being accessory before and after the fact and with conspiracy to commit murder. Seven others were acquitted of murder and accessory after the fact, by a directed verdict, but remain charged with conspiracy and accessory before the fact.

Wofford, in conclusion, reminded the jury "Suspicion, no matter how great, is not sufficient to base a verdict of guilty," and declared, "You are the sole judges of the facts and of the credibility of the witnesses."

Wofford assailed participation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the lynch probe. "We get along pretty well down here until they start interfering with us from Washington and the North."

"If they would sympathize with us instead of criticizing us, we might get along toward recovering from the time they laid waste to this country 75 years ago," he said.

Wofford accused the FBI of being afflicted with "meddler's itch," and cried "There's no cure for it, except a verdict by jury of this kind to acquit these boys and show them it's no use meddling in Greenville county."

Watt, summing up the State's case, charges of murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the brutal slaying of Negro Willie Earle the past Feb. 17, declared:

"It's your town. It's your county. Do you approve of these things? If you do, if you start to condone this sort of thing, you'll need more than the FBI and the State constabulary to protect you."

TAX MEASURE —

and it may not be made until later in the week.

Democrats say they want to delay action on cutting taxes until the government's financial picture is clearer.

The Senate bill would have tax cuts of 10.5 to 30 percent begin July 1. The bill which the House has passed would date back the cuts, in a similar range, to Jan. 1.

Under the Social Security act, the payroll tax was scheduled to increase progressively, but Congress has frozen it at 1 percent. It has not previously held up the increases for the Federal government.

Ricketts Pitches USA 2177 Team To Win Over Flagg's

Curley Ricketts, the old master, turned in a brilliant six-hit performance last night as USA 2177 thumped Flagg's, 5-1 in a City Industrial league contest.

Ricketts, the tobacco-chewing fireballer who pitches as much with his head as he does with his arm, was in complete control of the ball game from start to finish and treated the assembled throng of some 300 fans to a fine assortment of stuff as the 1945 champions evened up their record at one win and one defeat.

USA picked up three runs off the offerings of southpaw Del Dietrich and before the side could be retired, Steve Zezenksi was called into action.

After fanning the leadoff man, Dietrich got into trouble when he walked Elsie Linsmeyer. The Steelworkers' second baseman then took second as Dietrich uncorked a wild heave and scored as Reds Oliver spanked a single past the outstretched arms of second baseman, Nunu Corum.

Joe Stitzel drilled a double down the right field line sending Oliver to third where he scored as Ernie Houck skied out to right. Stitzel dentored the dish as Joe Jump drilled a one base knock to center field.

That was all that Ricketts needed. He had a bad inning in the first. With two out, a walk and two infield singles loaded the sacks but John Wirog was called out on strikes ending the inning.

USA took a 4-0 lead in the third on singles by Oliver and Jump with a wild pitch sandwiched in between. Flagg's tallied its lone marker in the fifth on doubles by Zezenksi and Charley Hertzog. The final marker came over in the sixth on a single by Don Shedy, a sacrifice, an infield out and a wild pitch that allowed the USA outfielder to come home.

Zezenksi turned in his second creditable relief assignment of the infant season, giving up six hits and two runs in the five and one-third innings he worked.

For Ricketts, it was his first 1947 league triumph.

USA will be in action again tonight at 6:15 when it takes on Doehler's in a game that has been rained out three times. It was originally scheduled to be the opening league game.

children, so that eventually we will have more unintelligent people than intelligent people."

The fiery Southerner predicted a slump, just as a slump has occurred in this country about every seven years, according to his calculations.

"No man can lead the nation out of the wilderness until the people are ready for him. God will give him to us when we are ready. The trouble with this country is not with the politicians, not with the rulers, but with the individual," he continued.

He went on with an attack upon Henry Wallace, declaring that a small band of Southerners had been instrumental in keeping him from being nominated as vice president in 1944.

In an analysis of labor difficulties, Rand said, "We can't solve the problems of industrial warfare in this country until we have a change of heart. We don't need laws, but the Golden Rule, in labor-management relationships today."

He closed his speech with a fierce attack upon Communism in the government, radio, press, church, business, theater, motion pictures, warning businessmen that they must take a firm stand "on one side of the line" against any un-American policy.

With a ringing appeal to patriotism, Rand took his seat amid tumultuous applause, with most of the audience rising to cheer him.

Preceding Rand, Congressman McConnell, who was introduced by Titus, called for the need of statesmanship to bring order out of the present confusion.

He discussed the primary problems before Congress today, naming them as labor-management relations, foreign affairs, and fiscal matters, declaring that they are all inter-linked.

Discussing the economy drive current today, McConnell declared, "The department heads howled when we tried to cut down their funds, as did the New Dealish commentators and newspapers. We do not want to affect the efficiency of your government agencies, but we do want to root out waste."

Tracing his experiences on the House labor committee, the representative upheld his belief in a good labor bill that would eventually be reported out of Congress. "The labor bill is not perfect," he insisted, "but we do say, in spite of certain debatable parts of the bill, that it represents a forward step in labor legislation."

On the topic of foreign relations, he expressed the fear of many that Russia is intent upon expansion and possible military conquest in the future. He declared that this policy would cost us money to support those countries fighting Communism, and asked that the United States seek allies around the world rather than try to withdraw upon itself and create an armed fortress here.

Following the dinner, during which the businessmen were entertained by the Pottstown band, Titus conducted the business session, giving in brief the financial and secretarial reports.

Milton Montgomery, chairman of the nominating committee, gave the results of the organization's elections, naming the officers for the next fiscal year as Titus, president; Edward D. Gudebrod, first vice president; Philip L. Corson, second vice president; George W. Watt, treasurer, and Walter A. Knerr, executive secretary and assistant treasurer. These officers were re-elected to their posts.

In his initial remarks to the association, Titus said, "Each of us has a job to do in the task of rebuilding—those who will make things the new world will use are most important—they are the manufacturers."

Pupils' Airplane Flight Postponed Until Today

The cross country airplane trip, offered as a prize to two outstanding West Pottsgrove High school pupils by John Basco, proprietor of Stow Airport, was postponed yesterday because of bad weather, but will be taken today on schedule.

Weather reports early yesterday morning indicated that both New York and Harrisburg were closed in fog. Instead of shortening the trip, by avoiding those spots, Basco said, the party will wait until today.

Two planes, carrying Barbara Fisher and Robert Spach, the two honor students, and piloted by Basco and Joseph Buccigia, of 55 High Street, are due to take to the air at 8:30 o'clock this morning and cover five states and the District of Columbia. The trip will take eight hours.

MEET IN KOREA TODAY

SEOUL, Wednesday, May 21 (P)—Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge announced the joint U.S.-Russian commission would reconvene at 1 p.m. (Seoul time) today to resume the long-interrupted negotiations for a unified provisional government of Korea.

Managua, the capital of Nicaragua, is on the shores of Lake Managua.

VOTE FRAUD —

resignation after the U. S. district attorney had said there was insufficient evidence to warrant calling a Federal Grand jury.

Kimball asserted, when the first indictments were returned, that Perrin D. McElroy, secretary of the Kansas City Building and Construction Trades Council (AFL) had been cheated out of the Democratic nomination for presiding judge of the county court. This is the administrative (not a judicial) office to which President Truman was elected in 1936 and re-elected in 1938.

The official count showed that McElroy was defeated by John H. Thompson by 345 votes. Thompson, like Axtell, was supported by the Pendergast organization.

In another close race, James H. Anderson, backed by Pendergast, won over Michael W. O'Brien, Democratic prosecutor, by 1071 votes.

The Kansas City Star began its investigation soon after the primary when rumors of vote stealing were circulated.

Two veteran reporters, Ira McCarty and Jack Swift, were assigned the job. They gathered a staff of young law students and veterans of World War II. Working in pairs, they interviewed more than 8000 persons in the North Side wards, long a Pendergast stronghold.

The investigators said they uncovered outright vote theft, falsification of returns and a few cases of vote buying.

budget bureau, would mean a reduction next year of 70,000 in the planned enlisted strength of the Navy, from 423,000 to 355,000, and 12,000 in the Marine Corps, from 97,500 to 85,500.

Thomas said he fears the House is gambling with national security "during these troubled times."

Rep. Ploesser (R-Mo.), a member of the subcommittee that prepared the bill, referred to testimony given the committee as indicating that the funds approved are sufficient. He described later protests as "a belated nightmare" by some admiral, and said the Navy has a tendency "to keep too many men of high rank."

Search for Girl's Killer Uearths No New Clues

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, May 20—Collegeville State police admitted tonight that the search for the killer of Carol Ann Thompson has been temporarily stalemated.

No new developments have turned up the past 24 hours, they said.

A 23-year-old man, who was picked up in Duncannon the past Friday with blood stains on his clothing, still is being held, but investigation has revealed nothing more than that the blood is human.

Police say the suspect disappeared from his Worcester township home on the night of the five-year-old child's rape-murder May 10.

CORNELL

Remember the gold rush of '49? How entire families—and communities of the east picked up and set out for the gold fields of California? Of course you are not old enough to remember—but history records the many experiences of those hardy pioneers—and hardy they had to be, for the Conestoga wagon offered none of the luxuries we find in our modern automobile.

There may or may not be gold rushes in the future. But whenever and whenever you travel, you certainly want to travel in comfort and safety. That means Cornell Tires on your car. The name Cornell on your tires assures you the utmost in quality—quality that is the product of years and years of research and development—and the search for improvement never ends.

This exceptionally high quality is backed by the strongest written guarantee in America—Eighteen full months of service—guaranteed against all road hazards, including wear. No wonder so many motorists declare "Cornell Tires are not just good tires, they're the best!"

Former U. S. Official Denies Red Affiliation

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Carl A. Marzani, 35, former State department sub-official, shouted demands in Federal court today that he had ever been a Communist party member, used a fictitious name or advocated the overthrow of the United States Government.

The Italian-born defendant is on trial charged with hiding Communist affiliations to keep his Government job. He told the jury the story of a roving career which transformed him from an immigrant boy in 1922 into a wartime intelligence agent who "picked targets for the Doolittle raid on Tokyo."

State House Repulses Opposition to Bill Forbidding Strikes by Public Workers

HARRISBURG, May 20 (AP)—Administration-backed bills to ban strikes of public employees, including teachers, and to eliminate jobless benefits to all strikers were advanced for a vote in the House today despite Democratic floor attacks.

Heaviest fire was directed at the changes in the unemployment compensation law which would delete a provision now allowing payment of jobless benefits to persons involved in labor disputes at the end of a five-week penalty period.
